INTRODUCTION

- What does your library do well? How do you know?
- How could your library improve? How do you know?
- How does your library's performance compare to that of other libraries in the state?
- Does having a higher materials budget lead to higher circulation?
- It sure felt busy this year, but how can we make a clear case for more staff?

All of these questions can be answered in part by using the statistics your library collects every year. Review your library's statistics over time to see trends such as increased circulation or decreases in non-tax income. You may be able to identify correlations between "inputs" (such as income or number of books owned) and "outputs" such as visits or reference transactions. You may also be able to identify events that occurred in your community or at your library that affected library use, such as library building expansion, grants received, or new senior housing.

Using comparative data

Beyond reviewing local statistics, you may also want to compare your library's statistics to those of libraries serving populations of similar size. This process may offer clues to your library's strengths and weaknesses and help you evaluate your library's performance in serving its public. It may also suggest reasonable, measurable objectives for long range planning and help you develop and justify a realistic budget.

When comparing library statistics to those of other libraries, it is crucial to consider context – community character, library history, and tradition. As you use the statistics in this Supplement, remember that Vermont's public libraries and the towns they serve vary a great deal. Some libraries officially serve relatively small populations but actually serve larger surrounding areas or large seasonal populations. Some libraries serving small populations receive large tax appropriations; others serving a similar population rely on interest from large endowments for the bulk of their operating costs. Community libraries (joint school-public libraries) sometimes report tax support from municipal and school sources, but some only report tax support from municipal sources.

In using the data, it is important to remember that some libraries count data in different ways, and differing local practices and policies have bearing on resulting statistics. For example, some libraries count actual visitors each day to achieve an annual count; others count visitors using a sampling method, counting daily visitors during selected weeks through the year. Library loan periods (one month, three weeks, two weeks, etc.), methods of renewal, and the inclusion/exclusion of uncataloged paperbacks all impact on a library's total circulation. Caveat emptor!

National sources about statistics

These statistics are but one tool in an ongoing self-evaluation process that all libraries should engage in. Regardless of size, a useful source of further information on the collection and use of public library statistics is Output Measures for Public Libraries: A Manual of Standardized Procedures, 2nd ed. (ALA, 1989).

Some of the information including in this Supplement is broken down by age (adult and juvenile) in response to requests from children's librarians. Librarians interested in exploring the performance of their children's services will find Output Measures for Public Library Service to Children: A Manual of Standardized Procedures (ALA, 1992) also helpful. Both Output Measures manuals are available on interlibrary loan through the Department of Libraries.

Libraries wishing to find comparative statistics from peer libraries around the country may do so by using the National Center for Education Statistics' Peer Comparison Tool, available at <http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/libraries/publicpeer/>.

How this publication is organized

It is thanks to the continuing effort of local librarians and their staffs that we are able to publish this 2004 annual Supplement to the Biennial Report of the Vermont Department of Libraries. This Supplement includes most of the statistics submitted by the state's 191 public libraries and is arranged alphabetically by town and by population served. Data is for the fiscal year ending somewhere between December 31, 2002, and June 30, 2003.

The format of this Supplement is similar to that of previous Supplements. Users should start with the first chart which serves as an index by listing all the public libraries alphabetically by town name. This first chart lists the town, library name, population served, square footage of facility, number of hours open weekly in winter, and when the library's fiscal year ended (this column is blank if the library did not report any statistics in 2003).

Succeeding charts are arranged by population served, based on the 2000 census. In some cases, the population served is a combined population of towns that contribute tax funds to support a library. In other cases, the population of towns served by more than one library has been divided among those libraries, if the population of villages has been determined by the US Census. The population categories are:

- Public libraries serving over 5,000 population
- Public libraries serving 2,500-4,999 population
- Public libraries serving 1,000-2,499
- Public libraries serving under 1,000 population

Libraries in each population category are arranged alphabetically by town. Each population category contains the following charts:

- Staffing, square feet of building, hours open
- Income for the fiscal year ending somewhere between 12/31/02 and 6/30/03
- Expenses for the fiscal year ending somewhere between 12/31/02 and 6/30/03
- Holdings - books
- Holdings - other materials
- Services - hours open weekly in winter, registrations, visits, reference transactions
- Circulation and interlibrary loan
- Programming and outreach
- Computers and computer-based services

More extensive definitions of the terms used are included on the following pages, and there is a brief key on each chart.

This data is also available on the Department of Libraries website: <http://dol.state.vt.us>. Libraries should feel free to download and manipulate it for customized reports. ## 2002-2003 STATISTICAL ROUNDUP

Vermont public library statistics bear out what local librarians were feeling: public libraries were much busier in 2002-2003! Grant funds for collections and technology helped to increase holdings for books, audio-visual materials, and public access to electronic resources. The number of programs, program attendance, and outreach services also rose in part due to various grant programs. Several libraries also expanded or renovated their space, creating new space for browsing, programs, and collections.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING OVER 5,000 POPULATION

There are 31 libraries serving populations over 5,000 in Vermont. The Sarah Partridge Memorial Library in East Middlebury became a branch of Ilsley Public during 2003, and its statistics are included with that library's. Statistics for branch libraries in East Barre and Hartford/Wilder are included with those of libraries in Barre and Hartford/Quechee respectively.

Several of these larger libraries serve more than one town, and in most cases, the populations of all of the towns providing tax support are included as the population served and are used for calculating per capita values.

Some significant facts:

- 67% of Vermont's public librarians holding MLS degrees work in libraries serving over 5,000; 55% of all public library staff work in these libraries
- The average per capita tax support for these libraries is $18.42, with a range of $2.69 (Jericho) to $53.96 (Essex Junction). The state average is $17.11.
- The average per capita total expenditure is $23.77, with a range of $3.11 (West Hartford) to $55.25 (St. Johnsbury). The state average is $24.42.
- 42% of the books owned by Vermont public libraries are held in those serving over 5,000.
- 57% of all visits to Vermont public libraries are to those serving over 5,000. These libraries also account for 60% of the circulation and 41% of the interlibrary loans received.
- The commonly-held feeling that libraries that spend a lot on materials reap benefits in circulation is borne out by Middlebury's statistics; the library spent the most on materials - $9.90 - and circulated the highest number of items per capita - 21.55.
- It is interesting to note which libraries are "net interlibrary loan lenders," those that lend more items than receive them: Barre, Bennington, Burlington, Colchester, Essex, Essex Junction, Lyndon, and Vergennes, with Essex proportionately far surpassing the rest.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING 4,999-2,500 POPULATION

There are 38 libraries serving populations between 2,500 and 4,999 in Vermont. Statistics for the Waterbury Center branch library are included with those of Waterbury Public. The Fairfax Community Library is a "community" library, serving as both a public and a school library. Of this group of libraries, only the North Thetford Library did not submit statistics for the 2002-2003 fiscal year.

Some significant facts:

- 19% of Vermont's public librarians holding MLS degrees work in libraries serving 2,500-4,999, and 20% of all public library staff work in these libraries
- The average per capita tax support for these libraries is $13.94, with a range of $0.56 (Westminster West) to $60.25 (Stowe). The state average is $17.11. Libraries in Westminster and Manchester did not receive tax support in 2002-03, but Manchester's library will be reporting tax support for 2003-04.
- The average per capita total expenditure is $22.59 for libraries serving 2,500-4,999, with a range of $3.95 (Westminster West) to $83.99 (Woodstock). The state average is $24.42.
- 21% of the books owned by Vermont public libraries are held in those serving this population group.
- 24% of all visits to Vermont public libraries are to those serving 2,500-4,999 population. These libraries also account for 19% of the circulation and 24% of the interlibrary loans received.
- Several libraries serving 2,500-4,999 population were "net interlibrary loan lenders" – Bristol, Fairfax, Georgia, and Weathersfield - supplying more to other libraries than they requested from other libraries.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING 2,499-1,000 POPULATION

There are 81 libraries serving populations between 1,000 and 2,499 in Vermont. 42% of the libraries in the state fall into this category. The Moretown Public Library was inactive this year, but hopes to reopen during 2004. Other libraries not reporting data were in Benson, East Burke, Cornwall, Lunenburg, Lunenburg/Gilman, and Ryegate Corner.

Some significant facts:

- 7 libraries serving populations between 1,000 and 2,499 are located in school buildings, and most are combined public-school libraries ("community libraries"). These are in the towns of Cavendish, Chittenden, Fairfield, Lunenburg/Gilman, New Haven, South Hero, and Wolcott.
- 8% of Vermont's public librarians holding MLS degrees work in libraries serving 1,000-2,499, and 20% of all public library staff work in these libraries
- The average per capita tax support for these libraries is $12.32, with a range of $0.13 (S. Ryegate) to $152.11 (Killington). The state average is $17.11. Several libraries do not receive any tax support at all, including those in Bethel and East Craftsbury.
- The average per capita total expenditure is $25.25 for libraries serving 1,000-2,499, with a range of $1.12 (Concord and Waterford) to $152.11 (Killington). The state average is 24.42.
- 26% of the books owned by Vermont public libraries are held in those serving this population group.
- 15% of all visits to Vermont public libraries are to those serving 1,000-2,499 population. These libraries also account for 15% of the circulation and 26% of the interlibrary loans received. "Net interlibrary loan lenders" were libraries in Barton, Brighton (Island Pond), Danville, Derby, Dover, Fairfield, and Richford.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING UNDER 1,000 POPULATION

There are 38 libraries serving towns with populations under 1,000 in Vermont. 20% of the libraries in the state fall into this category. The smallest populations served year-round by libraries are Guildhall (268), Hancock (382), and Pittsfield (pop. 427). Three libraries are only open in the summer – West Burke (pop. 364), Plymouth (pop. 555) and Windham (pop. 328). The library in Whiting has been inactive for several years. Other libraries not submitting data this year included those in Guildhall, Lowell, Vershire, Waterville, and West Fairlee.

Several libraries in this population range serve seasonal populations (e.g., Fairlee, Greensboro, Middletown Springs, North Hero, Peacham) which makes their populations swell far beyond 1,000 at certain times of the year.

Some significant facts:

- Four libraries serving under 1,000 are combined school-public facilities (“community libraries”) – those in the towns of Readsboro, Stamford, Walden, and Woodbury.
- 3% of public librarians holding MLS degrees work in libraries serving populations under 1,000, and only 4% of all public library staff work in these libraries. Many are run completely by volunteers.
- The average per capita tax support for these libraries is $11.49, with a range of $0.46 (Windham) to $55.26 (Stamford, a community library). The state average is $17.11. Libraries in West Burke and Tinmouth do not receive tax support although their towns do offer tax support to libraries in neighboring towns (Lyndon and Rutland, respectively).
- The average per capita total expenditure is $20.96 for libraries serving under 1,000, with a range of $0.72 (Windham) to $96.98 (Greensboro). The state average is $24.42.
- 8% of the books owned by Vermont public libraries are held in those serving this population group.
- 3% of all visits to Vermont public libraries are to those serving under 1,000 population. These libraries also account for only 3% of the circulation and 8% of the interlibrary loans received. Only one library serving this population range loaned more books on interlibrary loan than it borrowed – Readsboro.
